CHAIRMAN'S CHAT

On June 28th we will be holding our Annual General Meeting and I would encourage members to join us at the Community Centre and support your Executive Committee in the running of your U3A.

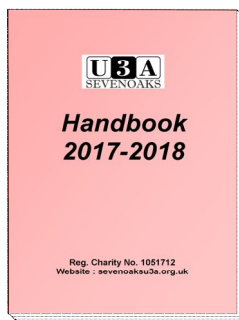

Immediately after the AGM we have a very interesting talk on Wildlife Photography and this will be followed by our usual tea & cakes.

Whilst we are on the subject of teas at our monthly meetings, we need more volunteers to help serve and to make cakes. This is a most enjoyable social occasion for our members and if you are able to help please contact Di Latter on 01732 455761.

Early in May we held a Thank you Lunch for all our Group Organisers and Committee Volunteers. These are the people who keep our U3A running so efficiently and their input is very much appreciated.

Sevenoaks U3A Thank You Lunch was held at Salomons on Wednesday, 3rd May, and all the group organisers and committee members who attended seemed to enjoy themselves. It was intended as a small token of gratitude on behalf of Sevenoaks U3A to those people who give up their time and energy to making our U3A such a success.

Classical Studies

We come from different backgrounds, but we all enjoy Diana Atkinson's excellent course. Under her expert direction we have explored Greek and Roman poets, dramatists and philosophers, and have come to understand what a wonderful contribution they have made to Western culture. Next year we shall be studying Greek Myths and the influence they have had on Literature and the Arts, still relevant today. If you think this might interest you, do phone Diana Atkinson.

The Abduction of Europa mosaic at Lullingstone Villa

The Table Tennis Group is going so strongly that we have asked Sevenoaks Leisure Centre to open the other Wednesday mornings in the month for us to start a second table tennis group. Contact Susan Henson if you would like to add your names to the list of prospective players.

French For Not Quite Beginners is the name the new French Group have given themselves. They meet on the 4th Tuesday afternoon of the month. If you are interested in joining them, contact Sharon Fishwick

The Board Games Group would still like to get going, so if you are interested, please contact Jim Hughes.

A second Science Discussion Group hopes to start in September on the first Thursday of each month (10-12). Contact Susan Henson if you would like to join them

Bird Watching is now starting up again under new group organisers, Susan and Oliver Parker. Meetings will take place monthly throughout the year. Dates and venues will be sent to group members by email, so if you are interested, please contact Susan Parker

The Handbook for 2017-2018: You should find all these new groups in the next handbook, along with other new groups such as Aviation (contact Frank Matthews,), but sadly without the entries for one or two other groups which, after many years, are closing. Make sure your group or committee is correctly entered in next year's handbook by contacting Susan Henson.

Finally, the Group Development Team could do with one or two more members. While Susan is happy to continue with most of the admin for another year, she would like to know she has more helpers with special events such as the annual Open Afternoon. Such volunteers would not find they had very much to do day-to-day, but Susan would be grateful for their support.

Wine Groups

From my point of view, having started 3 groups, the groups tend to stick together having learned to gradually build their vocabulary of taste which is sometimes impossible to impart in words, but agreed in discussions and developed in tastings .

The format that we have developed over 10 years of imbibing seems to engender an amicable sharing of knowledge beyond the simple sampling and invariably drinking wines from many countries. The discussions and presentations frequently involve historical facts, terroir, conditions and practices and partnering wines with various food. We seem to have taken it a little more seriously as time has elapsed. We try and have a small selection of cheese, biscuits, and pâté, whatever suits the selection of wine.

It takes some time to get a group established. I am reluctant to be the group organiser for another group but would be happy to set a group on the road. My commitment to two groups already is sufficient and I am embedded too deep in them to withdraw, as the camaraderie is great in both groups. We all share the cost fairly by setting a small sum to cover at least the wine.

So if you are interested, please register your interest and as soon as there is a sufficient number another group can be started so everyone starts from the same baseline.

A theatre visit is planned, travelling by train, to the Savoy Theatre, Strand, on Thursday Nov 2 matinee, to see Dreamgirls at the u3a group rate of £39.50 per person (reduced from £72.50). Dreamgirls recently won the Best Actress Award in a Musical and also best Actor in a Supporting Role. If you would like to join the group please contact Vicki Joyce no later than June 1.

There are one or two places left for the coach trip to the historically famous site of Runnymede followed by a visit to the lovely Savill Gardens where the roses should be in bloom on Tuesday June 27. If interested please apply promptly on the flyer available on the website.

Report on the Theatre visit to see Half a Sixpence

This musical has transferred to London from the Chichester Festival Theatre. Having seen the production at Chichester I was interested to see how it played out in a London Theatre with a very different size of stage and also to a London audience. I was not disappointed. Charlie Stemp playing Arthur Kipps was excellent. He has become a star overnight having been plucked from Theatre School into this part. The rest of the cast lived up to expectations and the singing and dancing numbers were superb.

Report on the recent trip to Brick Lane Music Hall

For St George’s Day a small group of us went to a matinée at Brick Lane Music Hall. The building is an old deconsecrated church, amazingly decorated inside, where we enjoyed a fun afternoon, with tea and delicious cakes. A trip to be repeated with a bigger U3A group some time in the future and our thanks to Cherry Lynam for organising the trip.
